MONSIGNOE DUCEY'S PLAIN TALK.

"There Are Many Who Live in Larney and Pile Up Fortunes with the Blood Money of the Poor"-The Duty of Ministers of the Gospel.

NEW York, Dec. 10,-The fifteenth anmual convention of the American Federa tion of Labor began in Madison Square Garden yesterday. Delegates were presenfrom all over the United States, Canalle and Great Britain. President McBridpresided, and introduced J. W. Snilivan of Typographical Union, No. 6, who deliv er d the mide as of welcome. The reportof the president, seen tary and treasure: were read and referred to the proper con-The chairman then introduced John

Swinton, who spok in part as follows: "The Federation of Labor is a power is the United States. It is man up of met who make all things and are the natura owners thereof. I take much pleasure in seeing the English representatives here. I hope that this association will send delegates to all parts of the earth, as well as have foreign delegates present at your conventions. There is much to learn from the English trade associations. The union hadone great things there, having advanced the price of labor and secured the recognition of parliament

The largest thing in organized labor is the act and fact of organization. It has grown from nothing, being in its early days kicked and sneered at. By hard work it has wen the right of existence and you must maintain it under penalty of death. Fifty years ago there was little need of organization, for there was work for all, Times, however, have changed. Another thing is the right to strike against wrong. It used to be more lawful to strike than now. Since that infamous Judge Woods mounted the bench, and the gov ernment sent the militia to Chicago, there is a change. If there were no labor organizations wages would be half, hours half as long again and capital would rule."

Father Ducey was then introduced and "Lam here because the pope wants me to be, if some of you do not. In 1891 an encyclical was issued by the pope in regard to labor, and it is my duty as a minister to be present where such matters arise. What Mr. Swinton has said is perfectly

Father Ducey quoted a great deal of scripture, and said that no murderer shall enter the kingdom of Heaven, and drew as a comparison the oppression of the laborer who is often killed by want, not being able to secure employment. "There are many," said he, continuing, "that live in luxury and pile up fortunes with the blood money of the poor. There is enough here for all, and it should be so far allowed that no man need appeal for alms. God intended that the workingmen should have proper food. It remains for the ministers to teach the requirements of mankind."

A mass meeting was held at Cooper Union last night under the auspices of the Federation of Labor. Samuel Gompers acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Gompers made a brief address, in which he said that the objects of the convention of the American Federation of Labor were to bring about unity of action between the trades unions of the country, and to decide what might be best to advance the in terests of the toilers of the country. The most lasting progress made is that estab lished by the trades unions of the world. The chairman then introduced John The Behring Sea Award to be Again the Subject of Investigation.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.-The feature of the senate yesterday was a speech by Senator Morgan, of Alabama, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and a member of the Paris Behring sea tribunal. upon a resolution offered by him last week instructing the foreign relations committee to investigate the question of the liability of the United States for the seizures of British ships in Behring sea in 1890, Mr. Morgan took the position in the last congress that the settlement of these claims by the payment of a lump sum of $425,000. as recommended by the president, was neither wise nor proper. His remarks on that occasion were the subject of some sar-castic comment from the British ambassador here in the latter's official correspondence with Lord Kimberly. That correspondency was printed recently from the British blue book, and most of Mr. Morgan's speech yesterday was devoted to pay-ing his respects to Sir Julian Pauncefote. His resolution was ununimously adopted at the conclusion of his speech.

The house held another short session. and devoted most of its time to discussing the appointment of house officers. Resolutions were presented by the Republicans calling for the correspondence in the Waller case; for lists of pensioners who have been stricken from the rolls since March 4, 1893, or reduced, and for Score tary Smith's reasons for an order affecting the action of the land office in connection with the perfecting of titles to Pacific railroad grant lands in Utah and Nebraska, but all were objected to by Democrats. An effort to have printed in The Record the memorial of the National Wool Growers association for higher rates met the Housesmiths' Strike Spreading.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Yesterday closed the third week of the housesmiths' strike, and added 40) men to the ranks of the strikers. Sympathetic strikes were begun by the plasterers, laborers, elevator constructors, painters, carpenters and electric wiremen employed on a number of buildings now in course of construction. A third member of the Iron League, the Jackson architectural iron works, is involved in the strike. They agreed to take sub-contracts from J. B. and J. M. Cornell. The sympathetic strikes, although apparently aimed at the Jacksons, have really been directed against J. M. Cornell, president of the Iron League.

Will Vote in Favor of New York. ROCHESTER. Dec. 10.—An Associated Press reporter saw William A. Suther-land, New York's representative in the Republican national committee, and asked him what position he had determined to take on the matters in dispute as to the place of the next Republican national convention. The committeeman from the Empire state said he should vote and work in favor of New York city. The committeman said his impression main fight would be between Chicago and New York with the chances somewhat in favor of the former.

Mary Thurman's Rich Strike.

Los Angetos, Cal., Dec. 10.—The report is verified that Mary Thurman, the discarded daughter of ex-Senator Thurman, the "old Roman." has made the richest gold strike known in any of the desert camps for years. Mary Thurman has been three times married and twice divorced, her first husband being Lieutenant Cowles, now United States naval attache in London. At the time of her first marriage she was a leading belle of Washington. Her last marriage was with "Bug" Holliday, the baseballist.

Madrid Wants Municipal Reform.

MADRID, Dec. 10.-A gigantic demonstration took place here yesterday against the abuses of the municipal administration of Madrid. The gathering took place on the Plaza del Toros. All the shops were closed, and the infantry and cavalry of the garrison were held in readiness for action, but there were no disturbances. Ex Premier Sagasta, the Marquis di Vega, the Liberal, Carlist and Republican senators and deputies and numbers of politicians nobles, ecclesiastics and merchants were present.

Suspicions of Murder.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Dec. 10.-The body of an unknown aged woman found or Marble Hill, near this place, two weeks ago, is believed to be that of Sarah Ross, of Belvidere, who has been missing that length of time. She was quite wealthy, and is said to have had a large sum of money in her possession when she disappeared, It is feared that she met with foul play, and Prosecuting Attorney Stryker has ordered an investigation. The body will be exhumed and removed to Belvidere.

Necessity of Speedy Action by the Relief Committees.

THE SULTAN LAUGHS AT THREATS.

lieves That War Is Imminent, with Russia, France and Germany Arrayed Against England, Italy and Amstria.

Boston, Dec. 10.-A correspondent in Constantinople, in a letter just received here, describes the condition under which. in his opinion, relief for the oppressed Armenians must be distributed, advising either an independent American commis sion for the work, or one acting in conjunction with an English organization of a similar character. "To insure effectual work," the writer says, "it will be essential for the United States government to take under official protection the men who distribute. Otherwise it will not be permitted by Turkey. A relief commission should be organized in America on an independent basis to have at least four superintendents of dis tribution-one at Alexandretta to go to Aintab, Marash and Oorfa, reaching the cases also of the needy in the Taurus mountains, another at Trebizond and Erzeroum. with a view to reaching the regions of Bit-lis and Van, and a third at Samsoon, for the regions from Marsowan to Harpoot. The fourth should go to Diabkir.

"There will undoubtedly be a large amount of aid sent from England. Probably it will be well for the American commission to make some alliance with those in England in order to cover the ground without lapping.

"There is need of the greatest haste in getting some effective relief into the field. The people will be dying of exposure and starvation very soon. Moreover, the Turks are trying by every means in their power to force the survivors to become Moham-medans. They are offering aid on these conditions in some places, and in others are picking up the desolate widows and orphans and simply taking possession of them in order to make them Mohammedans without any mill of the captives. The correspondent, in referring to the general situation, says:

The concord between the powers has limitations as to its extent of action. The inertness of Russia is due to England, and not to her own willingness to act. This state of affairs gives no cheering prospect for immediate and institute improvement in Turkey, and it seems now as if a Eu-ropean war over the dismemberment of the empire were imminent. If there is such a war it will very probably be between Russia, France and Germany on the one side, and England, Italy and Austria on the other side. But it is thought, however, that Russia may make an ailiance with Turkey on the basis of a sort. vassalship of the new sultan (whoever it may be) to the ezar. "Memwhile, so long as the powers merely threaten the sultan with fleets, unaccompanied with means for climbing mountains, he simply chuckles and proceeds with his cruelties and outrages, while suavely declaring all the time that neither cruelty nor outrage exists save in the imagination of the English Liberals and of the American missionaries. "Word has been received here from Bardezag, western Turkey, to the effect that more than 30,000 people have been butchered in Turkey, in spite of the assertions of the sultan and his advisers that there have been only slight disturbances. These facts come from a reliable correspondent, who adds: "These people have been flendishly butchered under the very noses of the representatives of the so called great powers; their goods have been carried off, in many cases their houses and even whole villages have been burned, while the great blood letter," at Constantinople, grins and snaps his fingers in the face of Europe. Even America has been sitting at ease while the people she has been instrumental in arousing to thoughts of higher things have been driven as salep to the slaughter. More than 20,000 widowed women, dishonored brides, fatherless children, infirm and feeble people, skilled artisans without tools, farmers without fields to till and merchants without goods to sell are now crying to Heaven for pay.

The other day the town was moved to its center by the services connected with the burial of a portion of a man's head. The man, a muleteer of this town, going to a neighboring village, was foully murdered by Turks. Some young men, taking their lives in their hands, went in search of the body. They found that the head had been severed from the trunk. The trunk was so forn by beasts and in such a putrid state that they could recover nothing of it for burial. They scenred the head. from which the lower jaw and the eyes were missing, and brought it home. As the funeral cortege passed through the streets soldiers in the coffee houses sat drinking and sneering."

SEVEN LAKE SAILORS DROWNED.

Went Down with the Tag Pearl B. Camp bell in Lake Superior.

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 10.—By the sinking of the tug Pearl B. Campbell off Huron Isle, in Lake Superior, on Saturday last, seven men, all of whom but one lived in this city, were drowned. The names of the dead are: Captain William McGilvy master; George McCort, chief engineer Captain John Lloyd, mate; Fred England second engineer; Peter McCallin, cook; two firemen, names unknown.

The news of the disaster came in a tele gram from the captain of the tug Castle at L'Anse, Mich., saying that the Campbell had been lost with all hands and that particulars had been sent by letter. The captain of the steamer which came in last evening from Marquette, Mich., says that on Saturday a terrible gale was blowing over the take in the vicinity of Huron Isle and it is probable that the Campbell, which was one of the staunchest tugs on the lakes, was caught in the hurricane.

Huron Isle is about forty miles from Marquette. The tugs Campbell and Cas tle had been at work there trying to raise two sunken vessels. The tugs parted com pany on last Friday, both then being in good condition. The captain of the Camp bell was then warned not to try to face the wind that was rising, but he remarked that his tug could weather anything but an earthquake. This was the last seen of the vessel and its crew.

Peace in Venezuela.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The Venezuelar minister here has received a cablegram from Caracas stating that the revolution has been quelled, and that perfect peace prevails throughout the republic of Vene zuela. No word has come here touching the receipt at Caracas of the British demand for an indemnity of $60,000 on ac count of the arrest at Urnan by the Vene zuelans of a colonial chief of police. It is presumed here that if this demand is made the Venezuelan government will inform the United States government of the fact. and urge that this also may be properly re garded as a matter for arbitration.

An Alleged Cure by Faith.

LEBANON, Pa., Dec. 10.—A remarkable case of "faith cure" occurred here yester day, when Catharine Shroff, aged 35, utterly helpless for five years from nervous prostration, arose from her bed an apparently well woman. She stopped using medicine one year ago, and kept up a correspondence with Dr. John Alexander Dowie, the "divine healer," of Chicago. The date for the cure was yesterday Prayers were said at her bedside and she was commanded to arise. To the surprise et all she did so, and experienced no diffi culty in the use of her limbs.

CAMERON TO RETIRE.

The Pennsylvania Senator Will Not Seek a Re-election.

GOSSIP AS TO HIS SUCCESSOR

District Attorney Graham, J. H. Brown Louis A. Watres, Charles Emory Smith. John Wanamaker, William Potter and Boies Penrose "Mentioned" for the Place.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 .- There was gene eral surprise in political circles when United States Senator J. Donald Cameron made the public announcement that under no circumstances would be be a candidate for re-election to the senate. His term ex pires in time for him to come before the legislature to be elected in November of next year. He made the announcement in a letter addressed to State Senator Mc-Carrell, of Harrisburg, which letter has been made public.

Speaking of his letter Senator Cameron said- "My intimate triends have known this, and I make the appoundement publicly at this time in order that aspirants to the office may have ample time to announce their candidacy. I have no doubt there will be several candidates, and I think it due them that they should all know that I shall not be a candidate. I make the announcement early, for the reason that the conventions are early next year, it being presidential year."

The present term of Hon. James Donald Cameron in the United States senate will expire on March 4, 1897. Mr. Cameron was born in 1833, and first entered official life in May, 1876, when he was made see retary of war under President Grant. This position he retained until March 4, 1877. when he entered the senate as successor to his father, the late Simon Cameron, two years of whose term had yet to rub younger Cameron was re-elected in 1879, again in 1885 and again in 1890. On retiring from the senate, in 1897, he will have served three full terms and part of a fourth, a period altogether of twenty years.

THE NEWS IN PHILADELPHIA.

Gossip as to Who May Succeed the Retiring Scuator. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—The announcement by Senator Cameron that he would not be a candidate for re-election, when it reached the Republican leaders in this city. while not entirely unexpected, naturally evoked comment. The question of the succession is of very widespread interest, and will arouse interest in every section of the state. For some time it has been reported that Mr. George S. Graham would be a candidate for the office, and in such event would probably receive the support of the state administration. Some months ago Senator Quay, in discussing the subject, announced that in the event of Cameron's retirement he would endeavor to help J. Hay Brown, of Lancaster, into the

In addition to the names above mentioned as aspirants for senatorial honors and who are talked of in connection with the Cameron succession are ex-Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Watres of Lackawanna county, State Senator Boies Penrose and Charles Emory Smith.

It is believed that the Quay people, or some of them, have known of Cameron's intentions for some time. The day after the election, while the Quay party was in Washington preparatory to starting for the south, Secretary Frank Willing Leach gave out a remarkable interview on the senatorship. He discussed the candidates likely to come forward if Senator Cameron should not desire a re-election, and he named the following as most likely to be seriously considered: John Wanamaker, Boise Penro-e, William Potter and George S. Graham. This interview created a good deal of comment at the time.

Governor Blastings Also "Mentioned." HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—There is a strong sentiment among the friends of Senator Quay on Capitol Hill in favor of the selection of Senator Penrose as a successor to Senator Cameron. Governor Hastings is talked of in administration circles. His friends believe he would accept it if he could be elected without a struggle.

She was one of 11 children, but all are dead except berself. At the age of 15 she was married, and five years later her husband died, leaving her with three small children and very Shortly after the death of her husband Mrs. Gibson's uncle, a wealthy British barrister named Charles Russell. invited her to come to England. Two of her children had died, and with the third, a bright little girl, she crossed the ocean. Barrister Russell had made a fortune and was passing the declining years of his life on his lovely estate in Essex. He became so attached to the little girl that he willed her his entire fortune. Mrs. Gibson remained with him but a short time, prefeiring to support her child by her own efforts rather than to live at her uncle's expense. She returned to America and became a trained nurse.

About this time the little girl died, and Mr. Russell was heartbroken over the occurrence. He declined steadily in health, and died of paralysis Oct. 29, leaving his entire fortune to Mrs. Gibson. His estate in Essex embraced 24 acres of lawn and tree shaded land, and is one of the most valuable holdings in the neighborhood.

The first resolve Mrs. Gibson made upon hearing of her good fortune was to put an elevator in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago, so that in the future the nurses would not wear themselves out climbing the stairs. She has also selected a site for a surgical hospital of her own in Chicago, where the poor who shrink from going to the county hospital may be treated.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY'S SISTER.

"The Morning Star of Catholic Song" and Her Work With the Pen.

Miss Eleanor C. Donnelly, who has been invited to read an original poem at the Atlanta exposition, is a sister of Ignatius Donnelly and has often been called "The Morning Star of Catholic Song." She has published a number of volumes of verse, among them "Out of Sweet Solitude," "Children of the Golden Sheaf" and "Domus Dei," and her work plainly demonstrates that she possesses the true poetic instinct. She was born in Philadelphia Sept. 6, 1848, and was the daughter of Dr. Philip Carroll Donnelly.

Her first poetical work was a Lymn to the Blessed Virgin, which was published when she was only 9 years of age. When her talents were more mature, she wrote poems and stories for the secular press, and her productions also appeared frequently in Catholic religious publications. In 1885 the Augustinian Fathers, in recognition of her religious poetry, secured for her from Rome a golden reliquary, ornamented with filigree work and containing relics of the four illustrious members of their order-St. Nicholas Tolentine, St. Thomas of Villa Nova, St. Clare of Montefalco and the Blessed Rita of Cascia. The following year her "Jubilee Hymn" in his honor led Pope Leo XIII to send her his apostolic benediction and to accept a copy of her book, "The Birthday Bouquet." Her "Jubilee Hymn" was translated into Italian and German, and special music was written for it. In all Miss Donnelly has published over a dozen volumes of pretry and prose, and her poems have often been classed in ment with those of Adelaide Proctor.

The Atlanta exposition is not the first important event which Miss Donnelly has been asked to commomorate in verse. When the centennial of the adoption of the constitution of the United States was celebrated in Philadelphia in 1887, she was invited to read an ode before the American Catholic Historical society of Philadelphia and lid so. In 1892 she also wrote the Columbian ede for Philadelphia's commemoration of the quadricentennial of the discovery of America.

The Kidneys promptly responded and set cheerfully at work with to newed strength and vigor; the Unc Acid, the waste products of decay and of fever, the taches of digestion and all the phisons and imputitles in the blood were cast out.

THE SENATE COMMITTEES.

Senator Cameron's Retirement Will Make Some Changes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.-The Republican caucus committee was in session for three hours yesterday, but adjourned without completing its assignment of committee membership. The work accomplished by only tentative, but so far as it has pro gressed it has confirmed the forecast of chairmanship assignments as already sent out by the Associated Press. In addition to these places it is now practically decided that Senator Teller will becom chairman of the committee on claim; Senator Hansbrough on library, Senator Gallinger on pensions and Senator Shoap on patents.

There has been an exchange of places by which S mater Cameron takes a membership place on foreign relations and Senator Wolcott the place on finance, which was conceded to Mr. Cameron before he announced his intentions not to stand for re election to the a nate. There is a probability that this committee will be increased by the addition of only one member. This increase is to be made to give the Republicans an opportunity to put a silver man and anti-sliver man on the committee. Senator Jones, of Ne vada, is to be allowed to retain his place. but as a Populist, and not as a Republi can, as heretofore. This arrangement will give the Republicans six members, the Democrats five and the Populists one. On the financial question the committee will stand 7 to 5 in favor of the silver.

It is about settled that the appropriations committee will be increased from nine to eleven members. This will enable Senator Brice to retain his place on the committee, and will give the Republicans two appointments there. Senator Pettigrew will receive one of these. The other will go either to Senator Quay or to a Pacific coast man.

The Populists probably will retain their present chairmanships so far as they have them, Stewart remaining at the head of mines and mining. Allen of forest reservations and Pfeffer of the committee to examine the several branches of the civil service. It is possible that Kyle may be transferred to a less important commission than education and labor. Butler will be given a minor committee and Sen ator Jones, of Arkansas, will be restored to his old place at the head of the committee on contingent expenses.

ALASKA-CANADA LINE

EXPLANATION OF THE TREATY SO MUCH DISCUSSED NOWADAYS.

Some Expect Trouble Detween the Two Governments Over This Matter, but Very Likely It Will All De Fixed Up by the

If you are a newspaper reader, which, of course, you are, else you would not be reading this, you have been puzzled over and over again by the almost daily allusions to the dispute about the boundary between Alaska and Canada, and it is quite possible that you have formed an opinion as to the right and wrong of the matter, perhaps without really knowing much about it. It is the opinion of the present writer that- But this article is to be informing merely and not inflammatory and will deal with facts and not preferences. In a way the differences between the queen's colonists and Uncle Sam's men are a legacy from the Russians, since the treaty between Russia and the British defining the eastern boundary of Russian America was accepted by the United States when Alaska was purchased from the Russians in 1867. No trouble arose until a few years ago, when parties of American and Canadian engineers were sent to locate the line. The British interpretation of the treaty differs from

MAP SHOWING DISPUTED TERRITORY. the American interpretation; hence all the talk. Briefly, the provisions of the treaty, so far as the present contention goes, are as follows:

From the fifty-sixth parallel of latitude (north) "the line of demarcation shall follow the summit of the mountains situated parallel to the coast as far as the point of intersection of the one hundred and forty-first degree of west longitude," but "whenever the summit of the mountains shall prove to be at a distance of more than ten marine leagues from the ocean," the boundary line now in dispute "shall be formed by a line parallel to the winding of the coast, and which shall never exceed the distance of ten marine leagues therefrom."

This seems simple enough, but in this case, as in so many others, appearances are deceptive. In the first place, there is no mountain range "parallel with the coast," and so the three league line must be laid out. The question then hinges on what is "the coast." There are two English and Canadian interpretations. One is that the boundary line should be construed to extend parallel with the outer shore of the islands strung along the mainland, and the other that the line shall be run parallel with "the general coast line of the capes and roints of land at the mainland." The American contention is that the line shall be uniformly 30 miles back from the main coast line. If the first of the English contentions shall be adopted, there are places where the Alaska boundary line will not touch the mainland at all. If either he accepted, much territory that has heretofore been conridered belonging to the United States will be Canadian territory, but the acceptance of the American contention will leave the line about as it now figures on the school maps.

From an agricultural point of view the territory in question does not amount to much, but gold mines, diversely described as not of much account and of surpassing richness, have been found there within the past few years; hence the claims put forth by some Canadians and some Americans that the "other fellows" are trying to 'hog on' to what they ought not to be allowed to have. Some there are who expect trouble between the two governments over this matter, while others hold that it will be settled peacefully in due time. Some there are on both sides who consider the territory in dispute to be well worth fighting for, if need be, while others say the more territory cither government possesses in that part of the world the worse off it is. At all events there is little likelihood of a war about it until after both American and Canadian engineering corps have reported on the whole business and the state departments of the two governments have had a chance at it. Those Alaskans and others who most strongly resent the present claims of the Canadians say these claims never would have been put forward had not the gold deposits mentioned been found. Canadians, on the other hand, declare the present claims to have been put forward long before the goldfields were discovered. It is worthy of note that if the dispute be settled in favor of the Canadians they will have the scaport of Juneau, the largest town in Alaska, which commands the cutrance to the goldfields. Junean is located on the mainland, 150 miles to the northwest of Sitka, the capital of the territory, and is the starting point of all mining and prospecting parties bound for the interior. Miners go over the divide from Juneau as early in the spring as possible, usually in April or March. This enables them to materially reduce the distance over which they must pack their sledding at that time.

-Washington Star. HIS $100,000 BANK ACCOUNT.

What Happened When a Capitalist Sud-denly Met His Bank's Paying Teller.

A paying teller of a down town bank tells an interesting story of a Cuban ex-perience of his. "I shall never forget," he said, "how I nearly sent a man into fits one day last winter, all because I met him unexpectedly.

"I had been planning a little jaunt down to Cuba for some time. As it was doubtful when I should be able to get away from the bank I said nothing about it to my friends or the bank's customers. I had been instrumental in getting a good sized account for the bank-one of those $100.000 ones that are hard to pick up nowadays and worth quite a good deal of money to us. I knew the head of this concern, and, in fact, had got the account through him. He told us when he gave it to us that he was in a hurry to get it fixed satisfactorily because he was about to go to Cuba.

"As soon as I was able to get away I sailed for Havana. I staid in the island nearly a month, having a most delightful time and keeping one eye open for my friend of our new account. I was just about ready to start for home when I met him, quite by chance, in one of the Havana shops. When he saw me he jumped back about five feet, as if he had been shot from out of a gun. "'God bless my soul-you here?' he said. 'Wh-y, wha-t?' He seemed struck all in a heap. 'You here? Good heavens!' I had to laugh, and laugh hard at that, for I knew what was troubling him. He was thinking of that $100,000 balance, and worrying about it-a little. You see, as I was the paying teller of the bank, the thought naturally finshed through his mind that I had skipped with the bank's funds and a large slice of his hundred thousand.

"Of course, as soon as he saw me laugh and his excitement had cooled down a little he began to see the fun of the thing and that he and the bank were safe, after all. We found out we were going home on the same steamer and ten minutes later we walked over to the American consul's office together and got our passports vised. And we had a jolly time of it back on the boat."-New York World.

Great Men and the Presidency.

There is nothing more pathetic in our history than the successive disappointments of great men in the matter of the presidency. They have deducated their lives to the service of the country with the belief that their labors would surely bring them what they carned, but after all their endeavors, they have been dis appointed and the prize has gone to men of inferior merits, as if in contempt of the tules of justice and propriety. There is no way to explain this curious irony of destiny. We only know that it is a part of the established order of things, and no man is great enough to be exempt from it.

In a sense, then of superior ability are always at a disadvantage, by reason of the envy that they provoke and the hostility that they exerte, but this should not be sufficient to deprive them of what rightfully belongs to them, as the presidency certainly has rightfully belonged to a number of men who have not been able to obtain it. The tendency of such a form of government as cars should be to reward public men according to their true deserts and to keep the highest office filled with the Lest examples of current greatness, but the truth is that it does not thus justify itself. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Puppy Tainted Away.

"Speaking of dogs," said Superintendent John Hame of the Mount Washingten tailway, "did you ever see a dog faint away?" No one had, "Well, I have," said the veteran railroad official, and then he proceeded to tell of a very young pup which was taken from its mother and remained at the signal station on Mount Washington all winter, several years ago. When taken down the mountain in the spring, he met another dog, who undertook to make his acquaintance. "You will observe," said Mr. Horne, "the young fellow didn't remember ever having seen a dog, and doubtless thought the one before him was the only other dog in the world. So he keeled over in a dead faint."—

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was it supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Country banks in the West are helping out the Treasury by ex changing their gold for greenbacks Within the past few days $200 000 has been received at the Chicago subtreasury from banks in the country towns of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Hon. Arthur C. Butte, Assemblyman-elect from the Thirty fifth District of New York, and for many years a lawyer at Monticello, expects to receive the Democratic nomination for Speaker of the Ascembly, which will make him the leader of the minority. He has the support of the twenty-eight Tammany members, and as there are only fortyseven Democratic votes in the House his selection seems assured. John B. Stanchfield, of Elmira, a former law partner of Senator Hill, expected to be accorded the Democratic leaderabip

The lowering of duties on window glass by the Wilson bill has been a positive advantage to American manufacturers. In order to hold the home market they had to improve the quality of their goods and so effective y have they done this that the demand for American glass is better than ever before The National Glass Budget gives figures showing that for the past nine months the importations of window glass were 197,487 box s or over a third less than for the corresponding period last year and quotes a prominent dealer as saying that "so long as American manufacturers keep up the standard of quality we can sell their glass as easily as the imported," The same paper says that window glass manufacturers and jobbers " are perfectly content with present market conditions and have not been in as high clover for many moons past." The experience of the glass trade is only another proof that when put to their mettle American manufactures, backed by American skill and pluck need no coddling by protective duties, but can hold their own against all the world.

"MISS JERRY"

Yery Successful Opening of the Y. M. C. A. Entertaloment Course,

"Miss Jerry," by Alexander Black, at the First Congregational Church, last evening, was received by a delighted audience, who fully appreciated the pretty story and the beautiful and life like views with which it was illustrated. It is the only thing of its kind and proved bright, new, crisp and full of human interest. It was a fine beginning for the Y. M. C. A course.

The next entertainment will be "Judge," William B. Green, Dec. 30. TAKEN TO NEW YORK.

A New York Occulist Will Try to Save

Gregory Martin's Remaining Eye. Mr. James G Martin, this morning, took his little son Gregory to New York to have his eyes examined by an occulist.

It will be remembered that the boy lost one eye and was badly burned about the face by an explosion in his father's foundry, some time ago.

The inflammation extended to the other eye and the phy-ician who has been attending him fears that he will lose the sight of that eye and become totally blind.

Bantel Bull

Daniel Bull, for many years a merchant and leading citizen of Burlingham, died at his home there, yesterday, after a long illness, aged about

Mr. Bull was born at Circleville, and was a son of Samuel and Mary Bull. He jined the Presbyterian Oburch early in life, and attended Operlin College in Ohio with a view to precaring himself for the ministry, but changed his plans and engaged in mercantile pursuite, first in New York and afterwards at Turners and Orcleville, where he opened the first etore ever kept in that village. He removed to Burlingham about thirty years ago, and has been in bush.ess there ever since. During all that time he has been the village post-

Mr. Bull was twice married. His first wife bore him a son, Sumner Bull, who is a jeweler at Walden. His second wife, to whom he was married in 1867, and who survives nim, was Robecca D. Little, a sister of Hon. T. N. Little, of this city. Mr. Bull is survived by three brothers, William H., Robert and Harrison, of Circleville, and by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Stringhan and Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George M. Beakes, of Bloom-

Mr. Bull, during all his long life, was an earnest and consistent christian, and merited and enjoyed in the fullest degree the confidence and esteem of all who knew him

"WANTED, A GOOD DOG."

Many Doxs Were Offered But Nove Were Bought-An Ancient Joke Re-

The announcement in last night's Press that a good price would be paid for a good dog, delivered at 156 East Main street, brought out many men and boys with dogs to s-Il.

Mr. E. D. Compkins lives at the address given, and it is understood that he disavows all knowledge of the advertisement, and it is said that he rather abruptly told several dog owners who called, last ev ning, that he had no use for them or their doggoned dog.

Mr. Tompkins has just had built and painted the high tonedest dog house in town, and it is more than suspected that one of his neighbors, with a fondness for practical jokes, reasoning that a dog house without a dog was of no earthly use, stayed home from church, Sunday, and set the wheels in his head revolving till they devised a method of filling the achidg palace.

Verdict in the George Quinlan Case. The inquest upon the death of

SURROGATE HOWELL'S CLERK.

T. D. Schoonmaker Reappointed and 'Jud" Hoar Turned Down.

During the last campaign it was generally understood among the friends of Mr. Judson K. Hoar, that he had been promise I the position of clerk in the Surogate office by O. P. Howell, Eq., in the event of the latter's election. Mr. Hoar worked hard for Mr. Howell and secured a large number of votes in this city and Gosben among his Democratic friends, who voted for Mr. Howell not for Mr. Howeli's sake, but because they expected Mr. Hoar to receive the appointment of clerk.

Mr. Hoar has considered his appointment practically assured ever since the election until yesterday, when Mr. Howell informed him that he had decided to reappoint Mr. Schoonmaker who has been Surogate clerk for many years.

It is needless to say that Mr. Hoar and his friends are very much disappointed. We are informed that Mr. Howell has incurred the displeasure of the Republican bosses by his failure to appoint Mr. Hoar.

HYMENEAL

Mehrer Richerson.

Miss Ianths, daughter of the late Harvey Richerson, will be married at 6 o'clock, this evening, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah H. Richer son, in Newburgh, to Mr. Harry E. Mehrer. Wm. Johnson will be the best man and Miss Doretta Kemper, the bridesmaid. The wedding supper will be prepared by the groom, who is an accomplished chef.

Miss Richerson was formerly a resdent of this city, where she has many friends who will wish for her a prospercus and happy married life.

Mr. L. Stern's Danbury Store.

Mr. L Stern, who with Henry Harris, formerly of this city, conducted a millinery business at Danbury, Conr., hee purchased his partner a interest in the business. He will have a resident manager at Danbury and make occasional trips to that city to exercise a general supervision, but will continue to devote most of his time to his store in this city. Mr. Harris will open a millinery store at Naugatauk, Conn.

Will Not Produce " Ben Hur.

The Board of Managers of Tarall Hospital rejected, yesterday, a proposition from out of town parties to produce a spectacular dramatization of "Ben Hur" for the benefit of Thrall Hospital. The trouble and expense of the production, which would require 160 young people, was thought to be out of proportion to the share of the profits that it was proposed to allow the hospital.

His Foot Crushed.

Mr. C. H. Dunham, one of the men in charge of the construction of the colt Gernard was purchased by Frank Traction Company's bridge on Sum- | S. -Skaters on the Mud Pond were startled at about 9 o'clock last night by a noise which resembled the report of a cannon. Upon investigation it was discovered that a head-tonead collision had taken place between Fred Strack and John Weldon, both of whom were rendered senseless by the shock. Liberal applications of ice water restored Weldon to consciousness and he was able to walk home. His nose is believed to have been broken. Strack, who struck the back of his head on the ice, did not regain his senses so easily. He was placed on board a trolley car and brought to Goshen, and in about au hour recovered sufficiently to walk

-It has been hard to realize until within a week that Christmas was drawing near. With the lawns greener than they have been all summer. and the air soft and warm throughout the day, it has seemed rather as though we were in October.

-Now the skating on some of the neighboring pouds and on the brick kila is excellent and a fair proportion of the youth ul part of the population fill sorts and conditions have bee, enjoying the sport, from the very small citizen from the African vuarier of the town, whose skates consist apparently of a runner and a string, to the grown young man and woman, who glide about on the latest thing in the way of "club" skates.

-A number of Middletown people were present on Friday evening at the rehearsal of the Goshen Vocal society.

-In books one occasionally reads of some one who is described as finding his or her happiness entirely in that of other people, and the writer has wondered at odd moments whether such a thing were possible outside the real ms of fiction. While no healthy natured person will begrudge another any amount of happiness that Providence or fate or circumetances may have bestowed upon him, it seems as though the nourishment an outsider may derive from it mu t be something akin to that cptained by the wistful-eyed child who stands with empty pockets outside the window of the candy shop that contains the dainties which his small soul craves, and the interior of which, perhaps, is the nearest approach to Paradise which his youthful imagination can conceive. THE DIVER'S STORY.

BY J. H CONNELLY.

[Copyright, 1805, by American Press Association.]

"All fool superstitition, eh? Well, you keep on thinking so. But I know better, because I've tried it. The one I had was only a little one, but it mighty high did me up. And the chap that got it from me-well, it finished him in great shape. I guess I know about opals. "Yes, I've no objection to telling you.

I was, when a young man, a diver, and considered a good one too. A company that had got a concession from the Venezuelan government to recover the treasure of the Spanish line of battle ship San Pedro Alcantara engagea seven other divers and my-elf to do the work. That company was formed in Baltimore, but five of the eight of us were hired from New York, myself and my cham, Alec Paterson, among them.

"The ship was burned, and her remains sunk in Margarita bay in 1815, during the war between Spain and her South American colonies. Seven hundred men, out of the 1,000 she had aboard, perished in the flames and the waves, and it was believed that a couple of millions in gold, a million in silver. the rich plunder of several Venezuelan towns and the great wealth of some cathedrals-put abourd for safety-all went down to the bottom with her. That was the stoff we were after, and thoughts of it set us all pretty nem

"We worked with a diving bell, two men going down at a time and having a very smooth job. The water was only 60 feet deep, the bottom a sandy floor, and cleaning up was easy. That we recovered some of the lost treasure is sufficiently evidenced by the fact that after giving up the Venezuelan government's share the expedition took back $300,000 to Baltimore. And we were supposed to be getting it all up. just for days wages. So we would—if we'd been chumps. It was observable that none of the jewels known to have been lost was found. They seemed to have melted away—so far as the company's superintendent and the Venezuelan "fiscal" knew, anyhow. Many months afterward, when we had all got back, somehow, one of the boys sold in New York for $13,000 a diamond crop that be said he had found, but he didn't tell where.

"One day Alec and I were down in the bell agether when we both saw at the same instant, in the shallow water covering the sand at our feet, something that seemed to blaze with flames of all imaginable colors, and together we jumped for it. I clutched the thing, and we had a solid fight for it. The moment it was in my hand, I felt myself impelled to kill Alec, but luckily I didn't. Got the best of him without that, for I was the stronger. But it was a fool thing for me to do, he being a revengeful sort of devil, as I well knew, and me engaged to his sister Jenny, who was dearer to me than life. He gave up, but said, 'I'll get good and even with you,

Ben Trumbull' —and he did. "When I came to look at my prize, I found it was an opal, of about the bigness of your thumbual, quite thick and get Daisy doller Mill and Vienna Best Dator brilliant in its play of colors

This is the last opportunity you will have to get Daisy doller Mill and Vienna Best Patont Flour at that Lever saw. Fine as it was I didn't happen to think of reporting it to the superintendent, but we gave him about a peck of black silver dollars we had raked up, and he seemed pleased. Of course Alec couldn't say anything to him about it, for he himself had some unconsidered trifles stowed away in his dunnage and did not care to have any suspicions awakened. The other boys would have clubbed his head off it he had.

"About a fortnight after that every diver with the expedition disappeared one night. Some of them could not endure the thought of possessing so much wealth as they had in their clothes without going on a spree, and the steadiest of us, who would have been glad to stay as long as possible and get all he could, had to give in and go with them, for fear of suspicion and search when they were gone. We took the longboat. The superintendent sud we stole it, but we didn't, we just took it. He was welcome to his old longboat any time after it carried us to La Guayra. "As soon as we were missed he divined the whole thoug at once, and crackmg on all sail, with the help of a favoring wind, get down to La Guayra in pursuit soon enough to have us all arrested just in the opening up of our space. Luckily we had taken the precaution to hide away, in hands we thought we could trust or in seeme hiding places, most of the valuable things. we happened to have with us, and some of that stuff was actually recovered afterward. But I was in hard luck. When we were getting into the beat, some fool who went down the rope ahead of madropped his sheath knite, which was sharp, and when I lowered myself-in my bare feet, as we all were-I got a mighty pasty cut in my left foot on that knife. The salt water inflamed it, so that it was a sight to see by the time we got to La Cullyra, and I was thinking more about my chances for locking than anything else. So I couldn't hustle around to hade my stuff, as the other fellows did, and of comise I couldn't trust any of them, and the upshot was that when we were arrested every preco of gold and every 5ewel I had was captured, all but the opal, which, being an unset stene, I had slipped into the waistband of my old trousers. It was not found.

"The superintendent knew well enough that all the valuables we had belonged of right to the company, but he couldn't pacve it, at least he couldn't to the satisfaction of the Venezuelan authorities, so after a long hard fight in the courts we were let go, but not until we had been, upon one or another pretext, stripped of everything in sight. He recovered nething except his longboat, but the sailers, lawyers, courts and everybody else pretty much took a hack Plain at us until nothing was left. Then we were literally kicked out.

. . . Forto Rico on a goleta; then to Trinidad before the mast; to Liverpool in the same way, and finally back to New York, firing on a steamer. Lord! What a tough time I had! But through everything I managed to retain my big cpul. I went to see Jenny Paterson, and she would have nothing to do with me. Alec had got home some time Lefore ! did and poiscned her mind against me with stories of I den't know what. I had hejed he had forgotten the opal and our fight, but it had not and had done me the worst last he could.

"In a few days after my return I was arrested again, at the company's instance, on the vid charge of stealing recovered jewels, and a little gold pin with three or four cheaps mall stones in it that was found in my possession when I was taken up was held to be an ineriminating picef of my guilt. It was not, for I had won it fairly at eards from another fixtuan coming over from Liverpool, and, so far as I know, it had never been within a thousand miles of the wreck of the San Pedro Alcantara. The company did no better prosecuting me at horrethan they had done abroad, for proof was lacking, and I was discharged. But the enect of the affair was damning, so far as work in my profession was concerned. No wrecking company would line a diver supposed to be dishonest. I fried for work in other ways, got several successive situatious and was draven from each in turn by some unknown rerson-Alec. I've no doubt-sending to my employer a newspaper account (f my trial.

"I lost heart and hope, took to drinking hard, had only rags to wear and many a day was miserably hungry, yet through all that bitter time, with a strange unreasoung infatuation for the fascinating and accursed thing, I managed to keep my opal, and when I deemed myself secure from observation I would take it from its hiding place among my tacters and gloar over it, and wonder how much it was worth, and debate with ingself whether I could make up my mind to sell it, and, if so, how I could, in my condition, dispose of such a gem without being deemed a thref and having it seized from me without any compensation. All such questions were suddenly settled for me.

"One night I had become so utterly wretched that I deliberately resolved to jump off the pier and end it all. I had been looking at my opal until the contrast between its glery and my debasement scemed to madden me. Within a block of the river, as I passed a dark alley, a house seemed to fall suddenly on me, and I knew nothing more. When I recovered may senses, I don't know how long after, my hair and beard were matted with blood from a cut on my head, my face was caked with much from the street where I had fallen, and -my opal was gone. No doubt some robber had seen me handling it, followed, and after knocking mesenseless robbed me.

"The blow left me still dazed after I had got on my feet, and I staggered along aimlessly, in the direction my nose happened to be pointed, until I got to Broadway. And there I cucountered Jenny, with her mother, returning home from a visit. The ageny in my heart at sight of her, so beautiful and far above the thing I had become, leaped to ma hps, and without knowing what I did I cried out her name as a lost soul might shrick to an angel. By sight the dear girl could not have known me, as she has told me since, so much had misery changed me, but my voice went straight to her heart, and with an answering exy if "Oh, you poor Ben!" the sprang to me and held me up, or I should have fallen. And her mother, a noble, good woman, who always liked me, she, too, knew at once whose voice had called her daughter's name and helped sustain me.

"They took me home and fixed me up. I was ill for a few days, and they tended me as kindly as if I had deserved it. Alse war away, gone to South Africa. As secretar I got out I found work in my old profession, at good wages, with a kind, true man who was willing to give me a chance again. And I have done well ever since, earned good money, saved it, kept sober, and, best of all, married my dear Jemy.

"From the hour the opal left me my luck changed. But a week or so after it passed to other hands. I read in the papers about a burly corpse, with its skull caved in, being found in the East river, and in one of the pockets of the vest on it was a splendid opal, mine, I have no doubt, from the description, but I never went to see or claim it."

When He Heard the Other Was Russian, He Gave it Up.

"I'll tell you what I'd like to do," said a middle aged stranger who overtook me on Twenty-third street the other day and walked along beside me. "My sister, over in Trenton, is dying, and I'd like to be there before her soul wings its flight to the unknown. She is my favorite sister. and it will be hard for her to die without seeing me.' I made him no reply, and he went on:

"It will cost 50 cents to go over and see my dying sister, and if you could spare it she'd bless you with her last gasp. I'd teel in bonor bound, of course, to return

I stopped to look into a display win-but he followed after and said: "I don't want to appear avaricious. If you cannot spare me a quarter to go down to Tompkinsville, suppose you loan me 15 cents to get up to Yonkers. I have a rich aunt up there whom I have not seen for two years, and I know she'd count me down $50 in cash as soon as I stepped into the house. You just give me your card, and I'll send you a $1 bill in a letter." I turned aside to look into another window, but he was not to be shaken off. Standing at my elbow, he said: "Or 10 cents will get me over to Weehawken, where I have a brother in a railroad office. It's my brother Sam, and the first thing he will do will be to hand me $10. Sam loves me, and he never fails to hand me $10 when I drop in on him. I'll come back at 4 o'clock to square up with you, and you'll have done me a good turn without being out of pocket." I turned from the window and walked off at a sharp pace, but he was right on hand to say: "Look here, old chap, I haven't had any thing to cat today, and I hope you'll spare "Are you talking to me?" I asked as I came to a sudden balt. 'Yes, of course." "What tongue are you speaking?"

"English. "But I don't understand English.

Plæse speak in Russian." He looked at me for about a minute with his mouth open and a puzzled ex-pression on his face, and then heaved a long sigh and turned away with:

AGAINST PRO RATA MILK FREIGHTS.

Up Midland Farmers Meet and Protest Against any Change from the Fresent System-Counsel Engrged Petitions to Be Circulated and a Large Delegation to Attend the Next Hearing,

The meeting of milk producers, held at Sidney, Saturday, to protest against the establishment of prorata freights on milk by the Inter-State Commerce Commission was well attended, 330 delegates being present. Free transportation both ways was furnished by the O. and W. to delegates from stations along its line, and it may be said here that the meeting was engineered by the ratiroade, which have such a good thing in the milk business as now conducted that they are more than anxious that no change in rates shall be made.

J. S. Shattuck, of Norwich, ex-Master of the State Grange, was chairman of the meeting. Speeches were made by several farmers and by the editors of two of the Norwich papers. The speakers were agreed that any change in the milk freight tariff that gave Orange county farmers a lower rate than that enjoyed by farmers in counties more remote from the city would be a great injury to the latter, and some speakers went so far as to declare that if pro rata f eights were granted, milk shipments from the up State counties would have to be discontinued.

It was voted to engage Judge Gilbert, of Delaware county, to repreeens the up-State producers before the Inter-State Commission at the next hearing, and a committee of three from each milk station in Sullivao, Delaware, Otsego, Madison, Chenango and Oneida counties was appointed to attend the next hearing and protest against any change in

Each member of the committee was instructed to circulate a petition agaiost pro rata milk freights among the "farmere, business men and good citizens," and secure all the signatures possible that the Inter-State Commissioners may be impressed with the intensity of the opposition of the up country districts to the change lesired by farmers in the vicinity of New York-
